

Investigation scope

Use this guide for orders that remain in transit after the estimated delivery date or appear stalled in carrier tracking.

Before the threshold

Reconfirm the delivery address and ask the customer to monitor carrier tracking.

At the threshold

Open the appropriate carrier investigation and provide its reference number.

Refund decisions

An investigation does not by itself establish refund eligibility. Apply the relevant regional refund policy.

Escalation timeline

Select the route based on shipment type and elapsed time after the estimated delivery date.

DELIVERY INVESTIGATION TIMELINE

Elapsed time is measured after the estimated delivery date

DOMESTIC

INTERNATIONAL

Carrier investigation timing does not automatically create refund eligibility.

Figure 1. Investigation and lost-parcel escalation timeline.

Visual content contains policy facts not repeated in selectable text.

Investigation record

Every investigation should leave enough evidence for another agent to continue the case.

Required fields

Order ID, carrier, tracking number, estimated delivery date, last scan, route, and customer contact date.

Customer update

Explain what was opened, when the next update is expected, and what remains undecided.

Closure

Record the carrier result and link any later refund or replacement decision to its governing policy.